11. By order dated 27th March 2006 in C.A.No.459 of 2006, this Court directed the transferor company 2, the petitioner in C.P.No.134 of 2006 to convene a meeting of the equity shareholders for the purpose of considering and if thought fit approve with or without modifications of the said scheme of amalgamation and Mr.P.Nataraj is appointed as Chairman of the meeting by this Court.
12. By order dated 27th March 2006 in C.A.No.460 of 2006, this Court directed the transferee company, the petitioner in C.P.No.135 of 2006 to convene a meeting of the equity shareholders for the purpose of considering and if thought fit approve with or without modifications of the said scheme of amalgamation and Mr.P.Nataraj is appointed as Chairman of the meeting by this Court.

13. Accordingly, on the meeting held the Chairman of the meeting has submitted the result of the meeting in his reports dated 27.4.2006 and 12.6.2006 in respect of transferor and transferee companies, which was marked as Annexure 11 in all the petitions.
14. In respect of transferor company 1, the petitioner in C.P.No.133 of 2006, it is stated that the said meeting was attended by 3 equity shareholders in person of the said company entitled together to 90,00,000 equity shares of Rs.10/- each aggregating to Rs.9,00,00,000/-.
15. In respect of transferor company 2, the petitioner in C.P.No.134 of 2006, it is stated that the said meeting was attended by 7 equity shareholders in person entitled together to 1,00,00,000 equity shares of Rs.10/- each aggregating to Rs.10,00,00,000/-.
16. In the case of transferee company, the petitioner in C.P.No.135 of 2006, it is stated that the said meeting was attended by 7 equity shareholders in person entitled together to 20,72,651 equity shares of Rs.10/- each aggregating to Rs.2,07,26,510/-.
17. The resolution passed in the meeting are given in paragraph 16 in all the petitions.
18. It is stated that all the assets of the transferor companies as well as the transferee company are more than adequate to meet their respective liabilities.
19. It is stated that the transferor company 1, the petitioner in C.P.No.133 of 2006 have filed no objection letters from the secured creditors. So too, the transferor company 2 and the transferee company, the petitioners in C.P.Nos.134 and 135 of 2006 respectively filed consent letters from the secured creditors.
20. In view of the compliances of the formalities, on notice, the Regional Director, Ministry of Home Affairs has filed his report raising objections as follows :
 - (i) The company has furnished the certificates obtained from a Chartered Accountant certifying the list of secured creditors of transferor companies and transferee company. In the said certificates it is stated that 'No objection Certificate' has been obtained from all secured creditors except one each from the transferor company No.1 and transferor company No.2. But nothing has been mentioned about the no objection letters received from secured creditors and
 - (ii) that authorised capital of the company was a notional limit upto which the company can increase its paid up capital. Hence, two notional limits cannot be clubbed together. The authorised capital of the company is not a liability like other liabilities which are to be returned or refunded. Hence, they will not come within the purview of transfer of liabilities under the scheme of amalgamation, that after the amalgamation, the transferor companies would be dissolved and only the transferee company exists and if the transferee company increases its authorised capital, it has to comply with the provisions of Sections 94 and 97 of the Companies Act, 1956. In the context of the said objection, the Regional Director has submitted that the same may be taken note of while considering the petition. It is further stated that this Court had already allowed the merger of the authorised capital on similar case for amalgamation of M/s.Henkal Spic India Limited with M/s.Henkal India Limited. The Registrar of Companies, Chennai has filed an appeal against the said order dated 28.7.2005.
 - (iii) As per clause 13.3 of the scheme, the name of the transferee company shall stand changed as KPR Mill Limited and that it would become a public limited company. As per clause 13.5 of the scheme, upon the scheme becoming effective, the certificate of registration of scheme to be issued by the Registrar of Companies. It is stated that clause 13.3 and 13.5 of the scheme are against the provisions of the Companies Act, 1956 as the name of the company and the status of the company cannot be changed by virtue of approval of the scheme by this Court and the transferee company has to comply with the provisions of Sections 20 to 23 of the Act for change of name and has to comply with the requirements of Section 44 of the Companies Act, 1956 for changing the status of the company from private limited to public limited.

21. A perusal of the clause 13 of the scheme shows that in clause 13.4, it is stated that upon the scheme becoming effective.,

13.4. Upon the scheme becoming effective, the filing of the order of the Hon'ble Madras High Court together with the sanctioned scheme with the office of the Registrar of Companies shall be deemed to constitute all necessary compliances under various provisions of the Act in respect of the above increase in authorised capital, sub-division of shares in the capital and change of name and change in the status of the transferee company.

13.5. Upon the scheme becoming effective, the certificate registration of the scheme to be issued by the Registrar of Companies and the fresh certificate of Incorporation that the Registrar of Companies would issue in consequence of the change of name and status of the transferee company shall be in the new name of the transferee company.

22. As regards the first objection, the learned counsel for the petitioners has filed no objection letters from the secured creditors in respect of all the petitioners. As regards change of name as KPR Mill Limited and that the company on amalgamation would be a public company, the learned counsel for the petitioners submitted that in the light of the scheme being passed by the majority of the shareholders and they are being absolute compliances of the provisions of the Act as well as notice issued to the Central Government, the compliances of Sections 20 to 23 of the Act may not be necessary. However, as regards the other requirement under section 44 of the Act, the learned counsel for the petitioners submitted that on approval of the scheme, the same would be complied with without any default.

23. As regards the second objection on the clubbing of two notional limits, the learned counsel for the petitioners placed reliance on the decision of this Court reported in (2006) 129 Company Cases 915 in the case of CAVIN PLASTICS AND CHEMICALS PRIVATE LIMITED, In RE. Under the circumstances, there are no merits in the objection raised to stand in the way of grant of approval to the scheme.

24. The Regional Director in his report stated that similar case for amalgamation of M/s.Henkal Spic India Limited with M/s.Henkal India Limited has gone on appeal. However, the report contains no details as regards the filing of appeal and the status or stay obtained therein. In the absence of any particulars, this objection is also overruled.

25. Coming to the question of change in the name and necessity for compliance of Sections 20 to 23 of the Companies Act as well as the company going public, it may be noted that the amalgamation is principally an internal arrangement of the company for a mutual benefit in enlarging its capital base. It is no doubt true that while going public, the private company converted into public company, would undergo a change of name. Normally the procedure under Section 21 of the Companies Act has to be complied with. So too the provisions of Section 44 of the Companies Act. However, it may be noted that on conversion, a company does not cease to exist to bring into existence any new company. In the scheme of things to emerge on an amalgamation, two transferor companies are united with the transferee company. The scheme herein contemplates a change in their name as well as in status as a public company. In the face of such facts, the question is whether the petitioners are to be subjected to the procedure under Section 21 of the Companies Act. This section requires special resolution to be passed on the proposed change of name of the company and the approval of the Central Government thereupon for changing the company's name. The proviso of the said Section dispenses with the approval of the Central Government when the only change that occurs in the name is the deletion and addition of word 'private' consequent on the conversion of the company from private to public or vice versa. It may be noted that Chapter V is a complete code by itself on the subject of arrangement/compromise and reconstruction.

26. While dealing with the objection raised by the Regional Director in the case as regards violation of Sections 42 and 77 of the Companies Act in response to a petition under Section 391 of the Act, the Delhi High Court in the decision reported in 86 CC 325 (HIMACHAL TELEMATICS LTD. v. HIMACHAL FUTURISTICS COMMUNICATIONS LTD.) at page 333 observed that, "under sections 391 to 394, the Court has plenary as well as residuary powers to sanction a scheme and to provide for any statutory violation by suitable orders". The Court further observed that, "there is no doubt that powers given to the Court under sections 391 to 394 pursuant to Chapter V which start with Arbitration, Compromise or Arrangements and Reconstruction are of wide amplitude for carrying out compromise and/or arrangement and also the consequential power to make the supervision effective by removing obstacles. The very heading of Chapter V suggests that power which is vested in Courts not only deals with powers of Court for compromise but it also deals with power where arbitration has taken place, arrangements have been entered into between two or more corporate entities or any scheme of reconstruction has been placed before the Court. Obviously the Legislature was mindful of the fact that in relation to these kinds of arrangements where two distinct corporate bodies would have to enter into an agreement, arrangement for the purpose of reconstruction or for any purpose which is conducive to the interest of shareholders, there has to be no obstacles and that is why section 394 provides with wide amplitude of powers to the Court.

27. In the decision reported in (2005)5 CLJ (MAHARASHTRA APEX CORPORATION LTD., IN RE), at page 106 of the judgment, the Karnataka High Court referring to the decision reported of the Delhi High Court reported in 86 CC 325 (HIMACHAL TELEMATICS LTD., IN RE) (above cited) and the decision of the Gujarat High Court in 111 CC 756 (IN RE NEW VISION LASER CENTRES) held that,

"The only two circumstances under which the Company Court is prevented from according sanction is contained in proviso to Section 391 and 394 where the Official Liquidator or the Registrar of Companies filed a report stating that the affairs of the company are conducted in a manner prejudicial to the members of the company and the company".

28. The Karnataka High Court also extracted the view of the Gujarat High Court 111 CC 756 at page 108 of the judgment which is as follows:-

"If the scheme of amalgamation is inconsistent with other provisions of the Companies Act, 1956, then the legislation in its wisdom ought to have added in proviso to section 394 after the words 'public interest', or 'anything inconsistent with other provisions of the Act'. That being not the situation, in the plain language of Section 394 the court cannot permit the respondent to read a further condition which has not been intended in the section. If there are no controlling provisions in the subsequent provisions of the Act, then no other addition of words can be assigned to the language of a section".

29. In the light of the above statement of law over which there cannot be any difference of opinion, a construction which advances the cause of the legislative intent needs to be undertaken. It may be seen that under the provisions of the Act the objections of the Official Liquidator or the Registrar of Companies to a scheme of amalgamation is restricted to the issues on the affairs of the company conducted in a manner prejudicial to the members or public interest. However, where the plain meaning of Section 394 of the Companies Act does not contain anything beyond 'public interest', as a matter for consideration by the Central Government, one cannot plead anything beyond what is contemplated to hold, that eventhough the scheme has been approved by the majority in accordance with the provisions of Section 391 of the Companies Act, the change of name and its conversion to a public company again need to undergo the exercise of going through motion on special resolution in compliance of the provisions of Sections 21 to 23 of the Companies Act Consequently, I am in agreement with the view expressed by the Gujarat and Karnataka High Court on this issue. The formalities as regards placing the scheme before the authorities had already been undertaken by the petitioners. Considering the fact that the scheme had been put on notice to the Central Government and had also been subjected to its scrutiny, the repeated compliances of Section 21 of the Companies Act is only a superfluous compliances. In any event, in the light of the view I have taken on the scope of the provisions of Chapter V, I do not find any reason to accept the objection. Consequently, the objection taken herein on all fronts are overruled.
30. A perusal of the scheme shows that it protects the interest of the employees of the transferor company and thus, the interest of the employees are taken care of. The scheme provides dissolution of the transferor companies without winding up. There is no objectionable feature in the scheme of amalgamation which is detrimental either to the employees of the transferor companies or of the transferee company. The said scheme is not violative of any statutory provisions. The scheme is fair, just, sound and is not against any public policy or public interest. No proceedings are pending under Sections 231 to 237 of the Companies Act. All the statutory provisions have been complied with.
31. Consequently, there shall be an order approving to the scheme of amalgamation of the transferor companies, the petitioners in C.P.No.133 and 134 of 2006 with the transferee company, the petitioner in C.P.No.135 of 2006 as provided in Annexure 10, with effect from 1.4.2005 as the procedure laid down under sections 391 and 394 of the Companies Act are duly complied with. The petitions are allowed.
32. The books of accounts of the transferor companies, the petitioners in C.P.No.133 and 134 of 2006 are directed to be placed at the disposal of the Official Liquidator so as to enable him to file his report to have an order of dissolution of the transferor companies in C.P.No.133 and 134 of 2006 without winding up.
33. The learned Additional Central Government Standing Counsel is entitled to a fee of Rs.2500/- from each company.
